

April 10, 2017

Huskie-Jameson Announces New Parent Company Name

Huskie-Jameson has revised the parent company name to Spartaco, LLC. The new parent company will maintain its current structure and will continue to be led by Luis Gomez, CEO.

Spartaco will be composed of three industry leading professional tool brands - Huskie Tools, Inc., Jameson, LLC and TiiGER, Inc. "Each company has tremendous brand strength and brand recognition with the customers and industries we serve," said Gomez. "We will continue to actively promote the Jameson, Huskie Tools and TiiGER brands in the marketplace as we do today."

"As our parent company, Spartaco will help reinforce our desire to develop a unified one company/one team strategy; while leveraging the strengths and market leadership of our two flag-ship brands. This approach also allows for seamless integration of additional brands as Spartaco focuses on continued acquisition opportunities," Gomez added.

Spartaco, LLC and TiiGER, Inc. will be headquartered out of the Huskie Tools offices in Glendale Heights, Illinois. Jameson will continue operations at its Clover, South Carolina facility.

Huskie Tools is a leading brand of professional-grade battery-operated hydraulic crimping and cutting tools, hoists and accessories for the electric utility and industrial end markets.

Jameson is a brand of professional-grade lighting, wiring and cabling, line clearance and tree trimming products for professionals across different industries worldwide.

TiiGER is the leading brand of pole pullers and complementary products for electric utilities.